

ABSTRACT

A new class of chimeric polypeptides is disclosed that includes a transmembrane segment, an intracellular reporting segment, and an extracellular sorting segment. The novel polypeptides can be used to detect gene expression at the cellular level, and to isolate
5 precisely those cells that are detected from organisms, organs, tissues, and mixtures of cells.

60059520